2. Adhere to the mandatory kit and the rules about using the items.
3. Accept the risks associated with trail running.
4. To compete pretty and sensibly without resorting to cheating or going against the spirit of the race.
5. Understand that participation in the KAR ULTRA is a privilege. Competitors compete with the understanding the right to compete can be withdrawn if a participant is found to be rude or, in the race director's opinion, not an individual that should be participating in this event to ensure some form of harmony and maturity and experience amongst the participants.
6. Understand that you will be subjected to the most extreme of weather conditions possible and that they know the remote locations of the race course and route and the need to abide by the rules and spirit of competition at all times.
7. You also agree to abide by the official race mandatory kit requirements and understand that failure to adhere to the compulsory kit list will result in your disqualification from either STARTING the event or being disqualified and stopped from proceeding point in time during the event. You are responsible for your success or failure in this event.

8. You are required to be self-sufficient with water stations set up to cater to re-filling hydration packs or bottles along the entire race course. These water stations or WS also act as checkpoints for runners/participants to sign in and confirm they have passed through the WS before proceeding on the race course. CPs or checkpoints are also set up along the race course to act as check-in stations without the availability of water supplies for drinking, given they are or may be in remote locations.
9. Support crews are advisable not to run with or pace runner/participant. They are not allowed to use motorized or non motorized vehicles to pace runners/participants or to use cars to walk or follow or lead runners/participants. Any such acts may result in immediate disqualification of runner/participant and removal from the trail challenge. You cannot receive assistance during the entire challenge until you cross the finish line. Any assistance received may be considered cheating, and the runner/participant may be automatically disqualified.
10. You must carry the mandatory gear at all times during the event. Random gear checks may be performed during the event. Any participant without the required kit will incur a penalty ranging from a time penalty to disqualification based on the severity of the breach.
11. Race numbers / BIB must be visible outside of clothing.
12. If you withdraw from the event, you must inform event officials and sign the withdrawal form at the closest checkpoint. (Unless assisted from the course by first aid crews).
13. You must obey the directions of checkpoint staff and course marshals at all times.
14. If you don't leave CP until cut-off times, you must withdraw from the race as instructed.
15. Damaging or disturbing any flora or fauna is strictly prohibited.
16. Doping and the use of prohibited drugs are strictly prohibited.
17. Ensure your safety and the others. Be considerate of other trail and road users at all times. Take care when crossing or running on roads.
18. The participant is responsible for the actions of their family and friends. Family and friends of the participants must comply with all instructions from event staff and officials.
19. The participant may be penalized or disqualified for actions or breaches of the rules by their family and friends. They must follow the instructions of all checkpoint staff, including requests to vacate certain sections of the checkpoint area. The event organizers are not responsible for their safety if runners insist on proceeding with their run.
20. The organizers reserve the right to change the event rules and requirements, route, and other arrangements.
